EXTRA LYRICS

In watching its pendulum swing to and fro
 Many hours had he spent while a boy.
 And in childhood and manhood the clock seemed to know,
 And to share both his grief and his joy.
 For it struck twenty-four when he entered at the door,
 With a blooming and beautiful bride.
 But it stopped short never to go again,
 When the old man died.
 Ninety years, without slumbering, tick, tock, tick, tock,
 His life seconds numbering, tick, tock, tick, tock,
 It stopped short never to go again,
 When the old man died.

My grandfather said that of those he could hire,
 Not a servant so faithful he found.
 For it wasted no time, and had but one desire,
 At the close of each week to be wound.
 And it kept in its place, not a frown upon its face,
 And its hands never hung by its side.
 But it stopped short never to go again,
 When the old man died.
 Ninety years, without slumbering, tick, tock, tick, tock,
 His life seconds numbering, tick, tock, tick, tock,
 It stopped short never to go again,
 When the old man died.

It rang an alarm in the dead of the night,
 An alarm that for years had been dumb.
 And we know that his spirit was pluming its flight,
 That his hour of departure had come.
 Still the clock kept the time, with a soft and muffled chime,
 As we silently stood by his side.
 But it stopped short never to go again,
 When the old man died.
 Ninety years, without slumbering, tick, tock, tick, tock,
 His life seconds numbering, tick, tock, tick, tock,
 It stopped short never to go again,
 When the old man died.

It feels like years since it's been here
